LATHAM, NY (June 10, 2020) — Community Resource Federal Credit Union (CRFCU) recently received first-place honors at the state level for the Dora Maxwell Social Responsibility Community Outreach Award, Louise Herring for Philosophy in Action Award, and the Desjardins Youth Financial Education Award programs.

On Monday, June 15, The New York Credit Union Association will present Community Resource with first place honors at the Association's 2020 Annual Meeting and Awards Presentation. CRFCU has won first place in the judging of the awards in the $50 million to $250 million asset category for New York State credit unions. First-place winners in each asset category will now advance to the Credit Union National Association competition.

Specifically, the awards recognize:

- The Dora Maxwell Social Responsibility Community Service Award was awarded to CRFCU for its social responsibility projects within the community including support for CU4Kids, Interfaith Partnership for the Homeless and the Capital Roots Garden Bowl.
- The Louise Herring Philosophy in Action Member Service Award recognizes internal credit union efforts which include the CRFCU Community Heroes Program – a program designed to give back to military personnel, law enforcement, firefighters and first responders through loan discounts and savings bonuses along with financial education through Military Saves Week.
- In the Desjardins Youth Financial Education category, CRFCU was recognized for its amazing efforts with its program to teach money recognition and financial responsibility using math skills to visually impaired youth and young adults, skills which are often overlooked.

Community Resource FCU President/CEO Terry Langlois said, "Community Resource is fortunate to have dedicated employees who are constantly and consistently working to provide the best possible service to our membership through innovation, education and compassion. We humbly accept these award recognitions on behalf of our members, partners, Board of Directors and staff."
